Storm Devastation Deals Major Blow To Castro Regime

WASHINGTON (AP) — An anti-Castro group says the devastation wrought in Cuba by hurricane Flora has struck a major blow at Fidel Castro's dictatorship and "almost anything could happen" to him now.

The Citizens Committee for a Free Cuba, an anti-Castro organization, said today hurricane damage is only the latest threat to the prime minister's rule. Also endangering his position, it said, is the collapse of Cuba's food supply and "increasing disenchantment with increasingly rigid application of Communist discipline and food rationing."

Even if the hurricane damage was not catastrophic, committee experts said, it unquestionably represents an extremely serious setback for the Castro government.

Reports of the damage dealt Cuba by the hurricane have been sparse. U.S. government experts do not have enough information to evaluate the situation definitely. The Cuban press has written of 48 deaths. The Cuban rescue radio network has spoken of 200.

Havana radio, meanwhile, has cautioned against rumors until there is an official announcement.

The committee pieced together information it said it received from inside Cuba and messages transmitted over an interior Cuban radio network in an attempt to appraise the damage.

It quoted a message from Castro transmitted in Cuba on the night of Oct. 7 as saying: "I fear the magnitude of harm to human life from the hurricane will be very great."

"All of the area of the Cauto Basin where thousands of families lived has been totally inundated and the magnitude of damage of this hurricane cannot really be calculated," Castro was quoted as saying.

Mayor Jorge Risquet, a military commander, said the situation was equally bad in other areas.

The committee, an organization of U.S. citizens opposing the Castro regime, said about half of Cuba "suffered extremely heavy losses of every description."

In Miami, the Latin American monitoring service reported Thursday having intercepted a radio conversation between Castro and Risquet.

Risquet is quoted as saying Wednesday: "The worst loss of human life is in the western part of Oriente—in Jiguani, Bayamo, Manzanillo, Tunas, Holguin, Gibara and Mayari."

Castro, reportedly in Holguin at the time, is quoted as saying: "The whole valley is flooded. I fear for the people who were not evacuated. Some survivors have been sitting in trees for 24 hours."

In Washington Robert J. McCloskey, State Department press officer, said that the Cuban Red Cross, acting on orders from Castro, has turned down American Red Cross assistance.

Castro has denounced the offer as a hypocritical gesture from an imperialist power having aggressive designs against Cuba.

A committee spokesman said "official messages pleading for calmness by the families of 'scholarship holders' — Communist jargon for 4,000 children drafted into labor battalions to gather coffee—suggest something tragic may have happened to them. The coffee area was one of the hardest hit, and official estimates suggest about 90 per cent of the coffee crop, now under harvest, was lost."

Severe Drought Hits 16 States

Water Sources, Pastures Dried Up

CHICAGO (AP)—Drought conditions aggravated by hot autumn weather have parched areas in at least 16 states from Texas to New Hampshire, drying up pastures and water sources and posing a fire threat in tinder-dry woodlands.

An Associated Press survey showed today that the conditions stem from 1963 rainfall deficits—in some instances shortages of 10 inches or more—in most states east of the Rockies.

Pastures, late crop hay and Western rangeland have been hit hardest, creating livestock feed shortages. Milk production in a major Missouri dairy area is down 7 per cent. Stock water shortages have forced some cattlemen to cut herds sharply.

Reports of water restrictions imposed by municipalities are common. Both surface sources, such as rivers and reservoirs, and deep wells have been affected.

The Army Corps of Engineers report levels of all the Great Lakes except Ontario are below the 10-year average level and still dropping. Low levels have slowed barge traffic on the Ohio and

Locomotive Strikes Car, Youth Hurt

Theodore Leyman, 20, of RD 4, Western Reserve Rd. escaped from a collision between his car and a Pennsylvania Railroad locomotive today at 2:20 near Berlin Center with only a few scratches.

The locomotive struck his auto when it stalled on the railroad tracks crossing Weaver Rd., two tenths of a mile north of Route 224 and east of Berlin Center.

Leyman was taken to Salem Central Clinic Hospital where he is undergoing treatment for lacerations of the right ear and cheek. He is listed in fairly good condition.

Patrolman H. W. Waller of the Canfield barracks of the State Highway Patrol said Leyman was driving south on Weaver Rd. when the car developed mechanical trouble and halted on the tracks.

The locomotive, with James McKee, 49, of N. Crawford Ave., Newcastle, Pa., at the controls was traveling northeast when it hit the car broadside after the youth apparently leaped free. McKee told the patrol he was unable to stop the engine in time to avoid the collision.

More than 225 members and advisers, of 4-H clubs attended the annual recognition banquet Thursday evening at Crestview High School.

Guest speaker was the Rev. Russell Hoy of Coshocton County, who writes "The Country Parson" column for the Ohio Farmer magazine.

He lauded the advisers for the work they are doing with the youth of Columbiana County, showing them how to get along with each other, which he declared is one of the main things the world of today is unable to do.

Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture, introduced his guest, Miss Anneli Saaristo.

Wall of Water — — Kills Many

Water forced over this dam near Longarone, Italy (l.) by a massive landslide brought death to about 3,000 people Wednesday night. The miles of mud and stone turned the Alpine Valley, 60 miles north of Venice, into a wasteland. Italian Alpine troops are shown (r.) carrying the body of a man killed in the flood.

Italian Disaster Victims Buried

Area Threatened By New Landslides

BELLUNO, Italy (AP) — More than 10,000 men worked feverishly today to collect bodies of the dead in the Vaiont Dam disaster and bury them in a gigantic mass grave to prevent outbreaks of disease.

Premier Giovanni Leone came from Rome to the stricken area for a first-hand view of the disaster as police moved out more than 200 persons whose villages were endangered by the threat of new landslides.

Estimates of the dead ranged up to 3,000 believed killed when a mountain landslide crashed into the dam's reservoir Wednesday night and sent flood waters roaring over the dam and down the Piave River Valley.

As Leone began his tour under a morning sun, 600 bodies had been recovered.

Most of the victims were still buried under the tons of mud and rock that turned the lovely Alpine valley 60 miles north of Venice into a wasteland. Many of the bodies may never be recovered.

Deputy Mayor Terenzio Arduini of Longarone, whose town of 4,600 was wiped out, said at least 1,500 of the town's residents were un-

Lasting Coexistence

Lord Home Predicts Improved East-West Relations

BLACKPOOL, England (AP)—Foreign Secretary Lord Home said today a prospect of "genuine and lasting coexistence" between the Western Allies and the Russians is emerging.

Home told the annual conference of the Conservative party a "East-West understanding has not yet been achieved and until one is the Allies must keep up their guard. But he added:

"The most profitable way ahead would seem to be to cultivate every sort of contact, commercial and social, with the Soviet Union and with Eastern Europe and diligently and persistently to seek out political areas of agreement narrowing the points of difference until the political climate is ripe to clear even the biggest of them away."

Home also reaffirmed that the cardinal principle of British foreign policy always must be to keep "the United States on our side in a relationship of partnership. Without the closest alliance between the United States and Britain there is no balance of power and no security."

Home spoke shortly before one of the contenders in the Conservative party struggle for leadership — Chancellor of the Exchequer Reginald Maudling — received a quiet reception from the 4,000 delegates or his address on the nation's economic policies.

Maudling portrayed a Britain where a healthy expanding economy is stabilizing prices, strengthening the pound and spreading Britain's influence.

Maudling, Deputy Prime Minister Richard A. Butler and Science Minister Lord Hailsham are the chief contenders to succeed Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, who Thursday announced his intention to step down.

Butler led the field despite a dramatic challenge from Hailsham, Maudling, 46, is the dark horse.

Hailsham, 56, came out running hard soon after Macmillan announced his decision to step down. The prime minister, 69, underwent prostate surgery Thursday. The operation was successful but Macmillan said his condition would not permit him to lead the Conservative campaign against the Labor party challenge in next year's general election.

A few hours later Hailsham, pale, excited and trembling, told a meeting of party workers he would give up his peerage and seek election to the House of Commons, a necessary step to qualify for prime minister.

Hailsham's declaration won tremendous applause from rank and filers who believe his emotionalism and flamboyance is needed to put new life into the party. But some cabinet colleagues in private were tearing him to shreds.

Tory leaders never are elected. They evolve. The party conference is only one element of the movement. Another is the cabinet and the party high command which together form the Tory Establishment. A third element is the so-called 1922 committee which is a sort of caucus of parliamentary members and cabinet members. Their consensus will help determine who should succeed Macmillan.

Hailsham seems likely to

Cites Possible $15.6 Million Savings

Hoover Unit Focuses On Road Department

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Little Hoover Commission, in one of its more herculean efforts, has run its fine-tooth comb over the Ohio Department of Highways and come up with a possible $15,605,000 or more in theoretical annual savings.

The commission released a 58-point list of recommendations today regarding the sprawling, massive, multimillion-dollar operations of the Highway Department.

This is the latest in a continuing report of the commission — the Council for Reorganization of State Government — on findings of its survey of how Ohio's governmental agencies can be run more efficiently and more economically.

Few of the recommendations for the Highway Department would require legislative action, the commission says. It figures executive action can put most of its ideas into practice.

Thus it will be largely up to Gov. James A. Rhodes to accept or reject the suggestions of the commission, whose 88 members were furnished free by business and industry at his invitation.

The $15,605,000 figure represents what the commission calculates could be saved if its recommendations along such lines as organization, engineering, pur-

Woman Charged In Fatal Mishap

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — Police say paint found on a traffic victim's clothing provided a link to a car operated by a 20-year-old Warren woman.

As a result, Marty Diane Papp was charged Thursday night with leaving the scene of an accident. Municipal Judge James Ravella set bond at $2,500.

Victim of the accident Sept. 28 was Mary Lynn Harrison, 18, also of Warren. She was struck by a vehicle and killed on U. S. 422 while walking to work at a motel. A witness gave police a description of the car he said sped away after the accident.

Miss Papp told police she had been driving in the area at the time but denied any knowledge of the accident.

Police said comparison of paint found on Miss Harrison's clothing indicated the paint came from Miss Papp's car.

Battle-Armed Soviets Block Berlin Entry

BERLIN (AP)—About 100 combat-ready Soviet troops blocked a U.S. Army supply convoy from Berlin today.

Another U.S. Army convoy of 100 armed soldiers moved out of Berlin and stood nearby, possibly ready to give assistance to the halted convoy.

It was the worst incident in years on the autobahn, the life-line superhighway between West Germany and Berlin, 100 miles inside Communist East Germany.

Reliable sources said the Russian soldiers carried submachine gun and some wore steel helmets. An Allied officer said he had never seen so many Soviet soldiers at the Berlin checkpoint, Babelsberg.

Day Behind Schedule

The stalled U.S. convoy had been harassed ever since it entered the superhighway Thursday. It was almost a day behind schedule when it reached the checkpoint outside Berlin.

A U.S. spokesman said the Russians declared they would maintain the blockade until settlement of a dispute over handling U.S. military traffic. He denounced the blockade as "a wholly unilateral Soviet action" designed to force a change in established procedures.

The reason for the Soviet toughness was somewhat of a mystery in view of the recent relaxation of East-West tensions. Some speculated that the Russians were retaliating for a recent U.S. show of strength to halt rock tossing by East German border guards.

The spokesman first said the Russians were blocking all traffic on the autobahn by throwing armored personnel carriers across both the east and westbound lanes.

Civilian Traffic Allowed

Later he issued a statement saying some civilian traffic was being allowed to pass both ways. "Contrary to previous information," he said, "Soviet personnel carriers were not moved into the westbound lane. They were placed in the eastbound lane. Some civilian traffic is moving in both directions, using the westbound lane."

The difficulty began Thursday when the Russians stopped the U.S. supply convoy of 18 vehicles and 61 men at Marienborn. This is the western end of the autobahn.

The Russians demanded that soldiers get out of their vehicles and be counted. The Americans refused. U.S. officers contended their convoys on the autobahn are not subject to such controls if their papers are in order.

The convoy finally cleared Marienborn early today for the six or seven-hour trip to Berlin. Then it was stopped again at Babelsberg, within sight of West Berlin's city limits, at 4 a.m.

Join Soviet Carriers

East German vehicles joined Soviet personnel carriers on the highway, the U.S. spokesman said. German truck drivers said scores of East German soldiers, also armed with submachine guns, flocked to the checkpoint area.

High-ranking Soviet officers demanded that the U.S. soldiers get out of their vehicles and be counted.

The second U.S. Army convoy of 20 trucks and jeeps carrying combat-armed infantry, left Berlin for West Germany later in the morning, the spokesman said. For some reason it was cleared by the Russians past Babelsberg.

Instead of proceeding west.

however, the convoy parked at the checkpoint. Apparently the convoy's officers were ordered to stand by for possible assistance to the detained convoy.

Communist harassment of U.S. Army convoys occur at irregular intervals, but this was the most serious autobahn incident in some time.

Earlier Thursday, a third U.S. Army convoy of 27 vehicles and 117 men had been held up at Marienborn for about four hours but then was allowed to enter West Germany.

JFK-Gromyko Talk 'Relaxed'

But Neither Gives Inch on Big Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House discussion between President Kennedy and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko ranged from Cuba to the moon but neither side gave an inch on major East-West issues, informants said today.

However, no big changes in Soviet positions were expected by the President or his advisers, and officials pictured Thursday's talks as being exploratory, with Moscow and Washington sounding each other out to see if there may be new fields of understanding after the limited nuclear test ban.

Both Kennedy and Gromyko were described as relaxed as they sat across from each other—a notable change in atmosphere from the last time Gromyko was a White House caller.

Ironically, that was just short of one year ago—Oct. 18, 1962—and Kennedy, who already had seen the now famous aerial photographs, asked Gromyko if the Soviet Union was building missile sites on Cuba and Gromyko said no.

Cuba was among the world problems Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk discussed with Gromyko Thursday.

Kennedy is understood to have restated the U.S. position that the remaining Soviet troops must be withdrawn from the island. Though U.S. officials declined to say what Gromyko answered, they recalled when the same issue was brought up in Moscow

But Some Changes Are Noted

Barry Holds Fast In Most Cases to Earlier Opinions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater may be tacking a bit into the political winds but he is holding closely to his conservative course as a front runner for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

A comparison of Goldwater's recent statements with views he expressed earlier shows that the Arizona senator sometimes veers off from positions he has taken earlier. But in most cases the substance of what he is saying bears a remarkable resemblance to what he has said before.

Goldwater himself has denied that he is modifying his conservative views to make himself more attractive to middle of the road Republicans who may hold the balance of power at next year's San Francisco convention. Those who contend that, he said, just haven't taken the trouble to read his speeches.

"I think there would be something wrong with any man in public life who didn't change some of his ideas to meet the developments of the time," he said. "Consistency is not necessarily a virtue. But I haven't changed my stand on any fundamental issue and I don't intend to."

One example of a change involves what might be classified as a refinement of the Goldwater views on what to do about Communist Cuba.

In a Feb. 2 speech in Syracuse, N.Y., he said the American people would back "anything that needs to be done to get rid of that cancer" of communism. "If it means war," he said, "let it mean war."

In Cleveland, Ohio, on Sept. 9, Goldwater said that the United States should give more support to freeing Cuba from the Communists. But he emphasized that the Cuban exiles should take back the island and no American troops should be involved.

Goldwater's opposition to a section of the Kennedy administration's civil rights package which would desegregate businesses serving the public appears to represent some change in position from a 1961 statement in which he said of the then current sit-ins: "As a merchant, I feel that a man in business who advertises for customers to come into his store or place of business and to make purchases from him cannot deny that customer, regardless of race, creed or color, the opportunity to purchase in any department of that store or business."

Goldwater also seems to have changed his tune about the Negro vote. He once told a party rally that "the Republican party has not attracted Negro voters. It is time to admit that we cannot get them and other minorities as a bloc so let's quit trying specifically to get these groups."

In a subsequent interview last August, Goldwater said "I've never said forget the Negro vote or the Italian vote or any minority vote. Go after them. I say we should go out hunting where the ducks are flying."

Goldwater has changed his mind about Republican chances in 1964 and, evidently about the man to beat Kennedy. Although he had said earlier that the odds favored a president seeking a second term he altered his position in mid-1963. He said in an interview then that "I thought a few months ago that Kennedy would be impossible to defeat but I don't think so now."

He had said in March in Torrance, Calif., that Kennedy could be beaten in 1964 but "I don't want the job."

"If we (Republicans) are so hard up that we have only Rockefeller and Goldwater, we're in a helluva shape," he said.

Fairfield-Waterford Lets Coal Contract to Cannal

The Cannal Coal Co. of Guilford was awarded a contract to supply coal for 1963-64 and a request was made of the State Department of Education for the purchase of two new buses for the 1964-65 term when the Board of Education of Fairfield-Waterford School District met Thursday night.

The meeting, conducted by president Wayne Rupert, was one of the briefest in recent months.

Cannal was the sole bidder on coal, quoting prices of $6 for egg or stoker coal and $5.50 for run-of-mine.

THE BOARD passed a resolution asking the State Department of Education to buy two new 66-passenger buses to replace two nine-year-old vans. The request is under the new plan whereby the state buys buses with the local boards providing the specifications.

The district has a fleet of 12 buses, including one spare. Two of the buses were purchased new this year. Executive head Joseph Driscoll said the school hopes to have the other pair of buses by August 1964.

Three proposals from local companies concerning conditioning of hot water for the Crestview High School cafeteria were received, but the board delayed action on the matter until further study.

The group, after receiving the State Attorney General's recent ruling pertaining to the 40-hour work week for custodians, decided the district is already in compliance with the new regulations. The district has three full-time and two part-time custodians.

A VOTE OF APPRECIATION was extended to the Class of '53, New Waterford High School, which contributed $32.57 recently toward the purchase of an additional water cooler at the Crestview building.

Permission was granted to these persons to attend meetings:

Miss Karen Patterson, speech and hearing therapist, to attend a workshop in Chicago in late October, with expenses shared by the Beaver Local School District.

Driscoll or board members to attend a joint meeting of the Ohio School Boards Association and the Ohio Association of School Administrators Nov. 12-14 at Columbus.

Upcoming events announced by the executive head include: Fairfield PTO meeting, Oct. 21; Athletic Boosters, Oct. 15; end of first six weeks period, Oct. 18; Varsity "R" dance at high school, Oct. 19; and East Central Ohio Oct. 25 in Canton. The Logic of Issue No. 1

Suppose you, the reader, had been asked what to do about the oncoming rush of young Ohioans wanting to go to tax-supported colleges and universities.

These are the state's "war babies" — the first shock wave of the population explosion reverberating throughout America. We have had to build more elementary and high schools for them. We have been trying to build more colleges and universities. And still they keep coming.

Our voluntary schools have been expanding to the limit of their ability, soliciting money from alumni, friends and financial foundations. But they can't beat the bushes fast enough.

The bulk of the money to expand higher education facilities must come from the public at large, because the bulk of the students will be attending schools supported by general taxation.

So what would you do, reader?

CHANCES are you would do what is being done by the state of Ohio through legislative action and the backing of a group of Ohio residents.

You would continue a one-cent-a-pack tax on cigarettes to raise money for a $250 million bond issue — $175 million to higher education, $35 million to public schools in distressed areas, $25 million for water, conservation and recreation improvements, $15 million for state buildings.

You would do this because no new tax would have to be imposed and the one-cent levy on cigarettes would fall on something no one thinks of as a necessity.

And you would sweeten the proposition with those other worthy causes to keep it from being exclusively for higher education because some voters might balk at so much money for a single purpose.

THAT IS what any Ohioan would do.

This is what has been done in behalf of Ohioans by the General Assembly and a group of Ohioans campaigning for State Issue No. 1, as it will appear on the ballot Nov. 5. It is the only statewide issue in the 1963 election.

The job of its backers is to make Ohioans understand State Issue No. 1.

They believe understanding it will bring Yes votes.

They believe the proposition is logical. It makes sense. It is what any Ohioan would think of if he had to scratch up $250 million in a hurry to underwrite a capital improvement program.

No new tax. Continuation of a tax already in existence for a purpose so worthy there can be no argument about it. What could be more logical than that?

An Easy Task If...

Here's a thought for the day as Salem's Community Chest fund drive gets under way:

"Light is the task where many share the toil." (Homer)

Salute to Scouters

Boy Scouting in Columbiana County is never at a low ebb. Wholesome activities tending toward the advancement of troop members are kept alive the year round through the dedicated efforts of adult leaders, known in the parlance of the organization as scouters.

Although they spend hours each week to help boys from the cubbing rank up through explorers to become good citizens, they seek no glory for themselves. Some of the most active scouters are never known outside the sphere of their own troop.

That is why the general public is pleased at this time of the year when the Shawnee District of northern Columbiana County singles out the various scoutmasters for fitting recognition and awards, as they did Wednesday night at Crestview School. Congratulations, men!

Illusion Spoiled

It's a dirty trick.

The high mucky-muck of the Miss America pageant has admitted that pageant officials don't care—or check—whether a candidate is putting on a false front, so to speak.

The first of the three dimensions cited in describing the pulchritude which grace the pageant stage may be nature's gift or enhanced.

If that is the case, the other end of the equation also may be sculptured a bit so all the curves curve where they're supposed to curve.

We have no quarrel with the professed aims of the pageant to pick a "typical American girl who has beauty, poise, charm, talent and intelligence," but we feel the beauty should be just as genuine as the other attributes.

The illusion has been spoiled. From this point forward we shall always wonder when seeing Miss America whether what we see is all Miss America or part "Made in America."

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

My blood runs cold when I see the phrase "professional killers," as in this sentence: "Police believe the murder was committed by professional killers." It is terrifying to realize we live in a country where "custom butchering" applies to human beings as well as meat animals.

My admiration for Frank Sinatra is restricted to his singing, but he ripped off a nifty when the Nevada Gaming Control Board gave him a hard time over his $3.5 million gambling interests. "No useful purpose would be gained by my devoting my time and energies convincing Nevada gaming officials that I should be part of their gaming industry," he said, announcing his decision to sell out.

What I've always said in the past now sounds better than ever. In the wake of the sell-wheat-to-Russia whingus: Profit is thicker than ideologies any day and twice on Sunday.

As one who recently came into possession of a German shepherd, also known as an Alsatian wolfhound, I think it should be understood these animals came into use as police dogs because they can be trained to be neutral, not because they have an instinct to get tough.

When politics heats up in October, I try to remember the one thing I'm sure of in this division of human behavior — that elections are decided on emotion, not logic and the way to pick the winner is to learn which candidate has the emotional wallop.

Rural Park Projects

Park and playground facilities in a number of nearby communities have been made possible through the efforts of such active Ruritan clubs as the Greenford, Damascus and Beloit organizations.

These clubs have adopted and carried out extensive recreational projects as community service programs, with young and old benefiting from the outdoor facilities which were not available until a few years ago.

The Beloit Ruritans Wednesday evening made the last payment on their indebtedness on the park they provided. Many citizens share in the pride of their achievement. Meanwhile, improvements continue at the Damascus Community Center, the project of the Damascus Ruritans, and at Coy Memorial Park, the Greenford center, and we imagine the Beloit men already are planning improvements on their grounds.

Can't Redesign Humans

Do high speeds on the highways disturb you? Take a look at the latest thinking on the subject.

In a story out of Detroit, Associated Press Auto Writer Charles C. Cain reported on the transformation of auto tires.

He said in part, "One of the major problems the tire industry faces now is the ever-increasing speed on the nation's superhighways. Some people feel that a legal speed limit of 200 miles per hour may be possible within a few years."

Tire makers have accomplished wondrous things with their product. If they can build tires that will withstand the brutal punishment inflicted by aircraft landing at high speeds, why should anyone doubt they can develop auto tires that will endure for long distances at 200 miles per hour?

But sound tires or not, a legal speed limit of 200 miles per hour appears entirely irrational for one cause: the human element.

Perhaps we have no more cause for alarm than those who thought 60 miles was beyond the realm of possibility in the horse-and-buggy days.

But until someone redesigns human beings with greater intelligence and faster responses than they now possess, a 200 m.p.h. speed limit would add more mayhem to an already frightening highway toll.

Bristling moralists to the contrary notwithstanding, I would be willing to sit down with South Viet Nam's Madam Nhu and say, "All right, girlie, what is your story and what are you trying to prove?"

I like a talking dog story that has a skeptic calling up on the phone and asking to speak with the animal. The person taking the call asks the skeptic to hold the line a moment, please, then comes back on to say, "I'm sorry. The dog is talking on another line. Would you care to wait?"

As a landlubber by breeding and conviction, I do not understand how ocean-going vessels cope with hurricanes and harbor the suspicion they are at the mercy of these storms even today, despite electronic gear that enables them to know what's coming. But they cannot get away, can they?

I never understood the likable entertainer Jerry Lewis until I read about his peculiarities in Saturday Evening Post. Now I understand him and don't like him.

I wondered recently why no one invented a way to remove burrs from long-haired dogs. Someone has. It's called a "rake" and is a dings the size of a shoe polish dauber with steel teeth inserted far enough apart to break up the burrs without breaking up the dog. Works fine.

If you're wondering how silly people can get there's a new item on the perfume counter — "Gold Water — a Cologne for Americans," described as "pungently partisan."

Labor And Presidential Hopefuls

By VICTOR RIESEL

Many of the nation's most politically experienced and sophisticated labor leaders now do not believe they can swing their rank and file behind John Kennedy in key industrial states during the coming presidential campaign. During a series of off-the-record conversations, they have written off President Kennedy's ability to carry Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Indiana and Texas. I cannot vouch for the accuracy of their predictions. I can vouch for the fact that they have been talking in this manner among themselves.

They also add that they do not believe they can make a political bogey man out of Sen. Barry Goldwater—and that even if he is the Republican nominee, they will nonetheless be unable to deliver their membership's votes to the Democrats.

There is no evidence that they have voiced this opinion to either the President or Robert Kennedy.

THERE ARE REPORTS that some labor leaders have expressed their opinion to the President's brother-in-law and front-running strategist Steve Smith.

This sentiment is not restricted to the AFL-CIO construction trades, traditionally more conservative than the rest of the labor movement. It runs across all lines. I have encountered it in the national capital, in New York and in the Midwest just the other day.

One labor official, part of a trio which leads a massive AFL-CIO union, expressed himself freely. We were dining in the presence of some of his fellow officers and a world-famous American, now in diplomacy more than in politics. There are more than 900,000 members in the official's union.

Some of the union leaders with whom I've talked plan to ease out of the coming campaign.

Others will attempt to head off Barry Goldwater by building up Gov. Nelson Rockefeller as the Republican most likely to win votes in industrial states.

SOME UNION officials already are making labor platforms available to the New York governor.

On Oct. 14, he will talk to the 12th Anniversary Celebration, Compensation Committee, United Steel Workers of America, in strategic Buffalo, N.Y.

On Oct. 28, he'll go before the Sixth Constitutional Convention, New York State AFL-CIO, at Lake Kiamasha, N.Y.

On Oct. 28, he'll address a banquet honoring George Meany, sponsored by the Uniformed Firemen's Association, at the New York Hilton.

On Nov. 14, he'll help open the biennial AFL-CIO National Convention, which is also expected to hear President Kennedy.

On Oct. 29, he will lunch privately with Lee Minton, president of the Glass Bottle Blowers Union. Minton is one of the national AFL-CIO vice presidents.

AT ALL these gatherings, the governor will be very much the presidential candidate. But at most of them he will be talking to national, state and district labor leaders.

He will not be reaching labor's rank and file—and the membership is just not following its officials into a wide assault on Barry Goldwater.

The Arizona senator, like the Conservative party of Great Britain in the past elections, could not be drawing the crowds which turn out to hear him if he were not drawing rank-and-file working people—unionists and non-unionists. This is happening despite consistent attacks on Mr. Goldwater in the labor press.

Out of this survey of a score of national labor chiefs comes one more titillating opinion.

Though of course none knew of the others' conversations, they were unanimous on one matter. Every one of them believed that Richard Nixon wants the Republican nomination. On this they could not be more emphatic.

Their old enmity shows up in their discussions of the 1960 GOP candidate. Without hesitating, they say they would prefer George Romney or Barry Goldwater or Gov. Scranton, or, of course, Nelson Rockefeller to Mr. Nixon.

It should be a fascinating political year.

Ann Landers Answers

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a boy, 16, who is going with a great girl. There is only one thing wrong with Jill and I would like your advice on what to do about it.

In all the time we've been going together she never once has offered to pay my way to anything. I'd even settle for a Dutch treat once in awhile.

I don't want to sound cheap but when you go out these days it can get pretty expensive. Last week when we were leaving Jill's house her mother said, half joking, "Here's $5 — why don't you treat Wally for a change?" Jill looked shocked and answered, "ME pay a boy's way? I wouldn't think of it!"

What I want to know is why wouldn't she think of it? What's wrong with helping out once in awhile?

Please print this letter for me, and for thousands of other guys who don't have money bushes growing in the front yard. — THIN WALLET WALLY.

Dear Thin Wally: To you, and to those thousands of other guys who are suffering from shell-out falter, I would like to say this: In our society it is customary for the male to pay for himself and his lady.

It is perfectly acceptable for the girl to crash through with tickets now and then, particularly if the boy has taken her out a lot. But no self-respecting male would want to be handed a $5 bill by his girl, nor would he want her to dig into her purse at the box office window.

Better Unannounced

Dear Ann: Our lovely daughter was married to a no-good bum for almost two years. She tried every which way to get him straightened around but it was useless. Finally our own minister advised her to get a divorce. So she did.

After she filed suit for a divorce she discovered she was pregnant. The baby is due any time now. Of course her ex-husband is the father of the child but she doesn't know how to word the baby announcements.

Should she say, "Mr. and Mrs. announce the birth of —" or should it just be "Mrs. — announces —" since she is no longer married to him? Please set us straight. She is deeply concerned. — NEEDING INFORMATION

Dear Needing: Under the circumstances your daughter should skip the announcements. Friends and family will not need to be informed by mail.

Perennial Paupers

Dear Ann: My husband and I are in our middle 60s. We've both worked hard all our lives and now that we are at the stage where we could take things easier our kids won't let us.

Every time we turn around somebody needs a loan. Last week our oldest son and his wife came over — depressed. They are "dead tired and need a vacation," but can't afford it. Will we loan them $400 so they can go to Puerto Rico for two weeks?

They owe bills all over town, yet they talk about taking a vacation on borrowed money. They still owe us $300 which they borrowed to get their furniture out of storage.

My husband says we should let them have the money or they will think we are stingy and mean. If they needed it for an emergency I would say "yes," but I don't feel that we should lend them money for a vacation. What do you say?—STINGY AND MEAN???

Dear Mother: I say let them repay the $300 they owe you and when they can look the rest of their creditors in the eye they should save toward that vacation in Puerto Rico. It's a heavenly spot — but not on your money.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Questions And Answers

Q—I have had four abdominal operations. After each one I was told I had adhesions. Do I have to have another operation to try to get rid of them?

A—You do not say in what way the adhesions affect you. Often a person who has had one or more abdominal operations has had a varying degree of abdominal discomfort that is due to irritation of the bowel rather than to adhesions. A few days on a bland diet and avoidance of laxatives will often relieve this discomfort.

If adhesions are present it is best to ignore them unless they cause obstruction of the intestines. When this happens operation is necessary. The unfortunate feature of this condition is that once started it often recurs. Your surgeon should take all known precautions to prevent adhesions from forming but sometimes they occur in spite of all such measures.

Q—My sister's blood count showed 4,500,000 red blood cells and 6,500 white cells. Why is the white cell count so low? Is this anemia?

A—The normal red cell count for a woman is 4,200,000 to 4,500,000. Since your sister's count is within this normal range she does not have anemia. A normal white cell count ranges from 5,000 to 10,000 so her count is O.K. in that department, too. The white cell count, however, gives no clue to the presence or absence of anemia.

Q—Are Butibel tablets habit-forming? Our doctor prescribed them for my husband and he has taken them for three years.

A—Butibel is a compound containing a barbiturate and belladonna. It is most often given for an irritable bowel and requires a doctor's prescription. All barbiturates are habit-forming and should be used for a short time only. Your doctor may have a special reason for keeping your husband on this medicine for so long a time, but irritable bowel treatment with Butibel should be replaced with other forms of treatment aimed at controlling the condition and removing the cause.

Q—My daughter who was 19 in February did not menstruate until about a year ago. Her periods come about every four months and are scanty. Could this be due to emotional causes?

A—There are many causes of missed or scanty periods in young women. These include a small underdeveloped uterus, anemia, diabetes, tuberculosis, thyroid deficiency and extreme obesity among others. It is also seen in some girls who have menstruated normally for several years, as a result of a change of habits or environment such as living away from home for the first time. It may occur in the first few months of marriage even though the young woman is not pregnant and it may occur as a result of nervous tension. When the cause is on a nervous or emotional basis, the regu-

2,693 Obtain Chest X-Rays In 4 Days

A queue of persons waiting to get their chests X-rayed had to be turned away Thursday when the machine broke down in the State Health Department trailer, where a record number of 2,693 people were checked this week.

Chester Pullman, X-ray technician, said the machine quit working about 2:45 p.m. on the final day of the four-day visit. He could not explain the equipment's malfunction, stating he had never known this to happen before.

The mobile was scheduled to pull out from the site in front of Strouss-Hirschberg's at 4 p.m., but left soon after the machinery failure.

Despite the inauspicious ending, Dr. R. T. Holzbach, city health commissioner, was contented with the excellent turnout of Salem and area persons, 783 more than were X-rayed two years ago.

The good response was considered partly attributable to awareness on the part of people regarding the value of chest X-rays through publicity.

Pullman, who unexpectedly had to solo-man the trailer when an employee resigned, photographed what is considered a state record for one day for one person Wednesday when 644 were X-rayed.

emerge as the darling of rank and file conference delegates. Butler, a cabinet veteran who was nosed out for the prime ministership by Macmillan in 1957, is strong with his cabinet colleagues but distrusted by the party's right wing. Maundling has strong support among Conservative members of Commons.

Butler, deputized by Macmillan to lead the government while he is ill, has been invited to substitute for the prime minister as the chief speaker at a mass rally Saturday. A brilliant speech would tighten his grip on the government and party machine.

Hunt On In 3 States for Jail Escapees

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Authorities in a three-state area continued today to hunt for four men who broke out of the Butler County jail with the help of another inmate who smuggled in hacksaw blades.

Sheriff James F. Hixon said Edward Cherry, 18, of Hamilton signed a statement Thursday admitting he brought the blades hidden in his shoe Oct. 4.

Cherry, a convicted burglar has been spending his nights at the jail during a pre-sentencing probation investigation.

Sheriff's deputies said he gave the blades to Howard Withers, 36, of Hamilton, another convicted burglar. The jailbreakers sawed their way out of a second-floor shower room last Sunday night.

Withers and Dewey Alexander Jr., 23, of Franklin then hid on an outside ramp until the outer cell block doors were opened Monday morning and escaped through the jail kitchen area. Delmar Day Jr., 29, of Trenton and George Brown, 27, of Middletown followed them to freedom early Tuesday.

Sheriff Hixon said he would file charges against Cherry.

Efith Piaf, Famed Singer, Dies at 47

PARIS (AP) — Edith Piaf, who sang her way from Paris street corners to international fame, died today after a long series of grave illnesses.

Miss Piaf, who was 47, was brought to Paris by ambulance from her Riviera home Thursday and died shortly after dawn today of an internal hemorrhage. Her husband of just over a year, 27-year-old Theo Sarapo, was at her side.

A frail brunette with a strong and haunting voice, Miss Piaf soared to fame just before the World War II. She became a national idol and by the 1950's was widely known abroad.

der the debris.

About 100 electric company employees, their families and several hundred residents of other villages also were missing.

Swiss Alpine rescue aircraft joined U.S. military helicopters to help Italian soldiers and police in the relief work.

Maj. Harvey C. Mayse of Wehatchee, Wash., commander of the U.S. 110th Aviation Co. stationed at nearby Verona, led the American helicopter crews.

"I'm 39 and I've been through warfare," Mayse said, "but this is the worst thing I have ever seen in my life. I hope I never see anything like it again."

The Swiss and Americans removed 200 persons from hamlets overlooking the Vaiont Reservoir which seemed to be in danger of being swept away by threatened new landslides.

Many more residents of the hamlets refused to leave. They preferred to remain where their families had lived for centuries.

Interior Undersecretary Giovanni Giraudo warned that if the bodies were not soon buried properly, the area would face a major epidemic hazard.

U.S. Military personnel worked alongside Italian troops, police and Red Cross teams. Supplies and heavy earthmoving equipment moved into the stricken zone from all sections of Italy.

The landslide, crashing into the reservoir, sent more than 100 millions of tons of water plunging nearly 700 feet up the surrounding mountain sides. Then the raging water boiled over the 873-foot-high reinforced concrete dam, the world's third highest, and roared down the valley, wiping out whole villages.

Italian officials said no American civilians were known to have been caught in the disaster. A spokesman for U. S. military forces in Italy said no American personnel or dependents were near the stricken area at the time.

chasing, right-of-way acquisition, data processing, etc., are implemented fully.

The report dwells at least as much, however, on methods of increasing efficiency throughout the department, steps which might yield no immediate financial improvement but which in the long run could prove the most substantial of all.

An the commission insists strongly that one of the big changes needed in the Highway Department is elimination of excessive political influence.

The report says inefficiencies resulting from excessive political involvement have stemmed from: —A complete change in the 19 top management offices, including all division engineers in the field plus several related positions in each division.

—Extensive shuffling and reassignment of engineering and technical personnel throughout the entire organization, resulting in frequent and complete reversals of supervisory relationships.

—Unusually large turnover in county maintenance crews including supervisors as well as laborers.

—Poor morale and low productivity of career employees because of insecurity and lack of opportunity for advancement.

—Employment of unnecessary personnel.

—Unnecessary purchase of material and equipment.

—Divided loyalties in the field between Highway Department management and political leaders.

"The impact of excessive political involvement," says the commission, "cannot be measured accurately. However, it is substantial. Furthermore, unless it is corrected many of the recommendations in this report will never be implemented effectively."

As a lead-off recommendation for improvement, the report says the department must greatly increase its management effectiveness. To this end, the commission, says, the department needs to develop stronger organization relationships, improve planning and budgeting techniques, exploit the application of data processing services, concentrate on technical problems and improvements, better personnel and public relations, and initiate better supporting services.

Full attainment of recommendations, the report says, should increase departmental productivity by at least 14 per cent.

last summer Soviet Premier Khrushchev told Rusk there are no Soviet combat troops in Cuba, only training units, and that they would stay.

The test ban treaty went formally into force Thursday and Khrushchev sent messages to Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan urging settlement of "other ripe international issues."

His statement said the treaty showed a shift for the better in international relations but did not eliminate the danger of war which he called "the main international problem of our age."

The Soviet Union, he said, was ready to exert new efforts to see that this new shift in events would become the beginning of a "sharp turn toward a considerable relaxation of international tensions."

After the conference Gromyko said "both sides expressed willingness to broaden the field of questions on which understanding is possible."

The Kennedy administration, informants, said agrees with Gromyko, but much further exploration is needed to find specific issues on which such an understanding can be reached.

Drought

Mississippi Rivers.

Although the drought hit several Midwest farm areas, its economic effect was tempered because such major crops as corn and soybeans were near maturity when it set in. The dry weather permitted early harvesting, however, and put a strain on facilities for storing and shipping grain.

Reports of forest fire danger were common in parts of Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee and throughout much of the Northeast.

Perry H. Merrill, superintendent of forests and parks in Vermont, termed that state's fire threat the worst in many years.

More than 100 forest fires have broken out since Oct. 1 in New York State, including two that burned over an estimated 500 acres in the Adirondacks.

Newark, largest city in New Jersey, has halted street washing and hydrant flushing and asked its industries to conserve water.

Some 35 of North Carolina's 100 counties have been designated disaster areas to enable farmers to purchase feed grains at reduced prices.

Auto Parts Stolen; Another Car Damaged

Theft of auto equipment and vandalism to another car were reported to police Thursday.

Albert Schnorrenberg of 850 W. State St. said two tires valued at $100, two other tires and a wheel worth $25, a $100 speedometer, two chrome rings and an instrument panel were taken from his garage between Tuesday night and Thursday. Entrance was made through a side window.

Mrs. Hobart Butcher of Butcher Rd. said someone threw a rock on the roof of her car Thursday night and dented the top as the auto was parked behind Strouss-Hirschberg's. A chrome rim was also missing.

Beloit Bans Fires During Dry Spell

BELOIT — Fire Chief Lawrence Whita has cancelled all fire permits within the village limits until after a rainfall. The fire department and Mayor Andrew Filip commend the residents for their cooperation in observing the law.

The unique antiquities of Jerusalem are carefully preserved. The city council of the Arab section, which holds many of the world's most sacred shrines, passes upon all improvements and no structure may be changed without written permission. An ordinance forbids erection of any building near the 16th-century walls that encircle the Holy City.

Fire Warning

Prolonged Period Of Drought Brings Chief's Warning

Fire Chief E. M. Bush has issued a plea to Salem residents to be ultra-cautious with fire at this time of year.

"The long dry spell has made grass and fall foliage dry as tinder, making flame control doubly difficult," the chief said.

He issued the request for caution after grass fires were extinguished Thursday at 11:35 a.m. at 1121 N. Franklin and at 1:20 p.m. at 1844 N. Ellsworth. A leaf fire also brought out firemen today at 12:45 a.m. at State and Sharp Sts.

Some district communities in the face of the almost unprecedented dryness have banned all outside burning.

Firemen were called Thursday at 5:20 p.m. to the A. & P. plant site south of the city where a trailer disconnected from its tractor partially burned. Chief Bush said four rear tires and the right side of the trailer body were damaged.

The trailer was used by plumbers at the building site. Cause of the fire is unknown.

delays were due to a "procedural question" and protested to the Soviet commander in East Germany. When unusually large numbers of American troops travel in convoy, they sometimes dismount to be counted by the Russians. However, the Western allies feel this is a "courtesy" and not a procedure to be carried out on Soviet orders.

There was some speculation the Russians were retaliating for a recent U.S. show of force at the West Berlin enclave of Steinbocken. Twenty combat infantrymen were flown into the tiny Communist-surrounded community eight days ago after East German border guards had harassed the three-man military police patrol there for more than a month by tossing stones at them.

Adenauer Resigns Chancellor's Post

BONN, Germany (AP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer submitted his official letter of resignation today to President Heinrich Lübke.

The resignation must be accepted by Lübke before it goes into effect. On Wednesday, the Bundestag (Parliament) is scheduled to choose Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard, 66, chancellor.

Adenauer 87, has been West Germany's first and only chancellor for 14 years.

The tendering of Adenauer's resignation today was a surprise. It had been assumed he would delay until his final day in office. There was no official explanation for his choice of today.

Smiling slightly, the old man entered the president's office carrying a brief case under his arm. Inside, while photographers looked on, he drew out a piece of paper and handed it to Lübke.

Photographers questioned the president's aides about the nature of the paper, whose contents they could not see. The aides indicated that it was Adenauer's resignation. This was confirmed shortly afterward by the president's office.

Plaintiff Is Winner In Second Civil Suit

LISBON — A verdict for the plaintiff for $1,736 was returned Thursday in the retrial of civil case of the Harr Iron Co. of Youngstown against the Melas Theatre Corp. of Wellsville.

A jury found for the defendant Nov. 19, 1959, after the defendant was sued for $1,854 for materials. The Seventh District Appellate Court returned the case to common pleas court for new trial.

Lorain GI Who Defected Faced Several Charges

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP) — Court-martial proceedings on a variety of charges were facing M. Sgt. Willard E. Valentini of Lorain, Ohio, when he entered East Berlin last month, according to U. S. Army European headquarters.

Valentini, 35, is the soldier linked with an East German Communist claim that an American master sergeant defected and asked the Reds for political asylum.

The Army said Valentini had been charged by Army prosecutors with forgery, adultery and breach of restrictions before he disappeared from his unit, the 504th Signal Battalion at Mannheim, West Germany, Sept. 23. He is listed as absent without leave.

Further, the Army said, authorities have received several indebtendness complaints concerning Valentini, who has a wife and four children in Mannheim.

The official East German news agency, ADN, reported Wednesday that the alleged defector had worked with U.S. Army Intelligence and had received Ranger training. Military authorities there say Valentini was in supply and maintenance for his outfit and had no access to security information.

RECOVER STOLEN AUTO

LISBON — Village police recovered a 1958 Oldsmobile early this morning on Harrison St. which had been stolen in Mansfield Oct. 3. Assistant Chief John Varner said neighbors reported the car had been parked there the past several days. No keys were in the undamaged auto which was in running condition.

Quakers Make Halfback Changes For Timken Battle

Joseph, DeRienzo Draw Assignments

In 1947, Salem started playing Canton Timken for the first time, and after 13 straight football clashes the series was interrupted in 1959 by scheduling difficulties.

The two schools will resume relations at Canton Fawcett Stadium Saturday at 8 p.m. and it is expected that the tilt will explode with some of the most exciting action seen so far this season.

Salem High Coach Don Clarico, trying to find the right combination in his backfield plans to make changes at halfback for the fourth straight week.

HE HAS SHIFTED substitute fullback Chuck Joseph to right halfback. It will be the first time in three weeks that the 180-lb. junior has been ready for full duty, following an injury to his shoulder.

At the other halfback spot, Mike DeRienzo gets the nod on the basis of his work during practice this week.

Larry Earley, completely recovered from a battle with flu, appears set to take over at quarterback, but Sophomore Joe Rottenborn is pressing him for the starting assignment.

Coach Clarico and his staff has installed a new defensive system during drills this week while preparing for the Trojans.

TIMKEN LISTS two sophomores in its first unit. James Richard at a right tackle tips the scales at 165 lbs. and Dan Kraft, who has come a long way according to his coach Ron Blackledge, has drawn the starting assignment at quarterback. He weighs 140 lbs.

Chuck Drakulich Scores 2 TDs

Salem Frosh Blank Bears' Squad 14-0

Right halfback Chuck Drakulich score twice to pace the Salem freshmen to their first victory of the season as the Quakers football team knocked off Leetonia 14-0 at the Bears' den Thursday.

Coach Bing Newton and Bob Carbaugh had led Salem to a tie in its first four contests. Newton pointed out that this was the best game the boys had played this season.

"The defense was hitting the hardest we have ever seen them," said Newton.

"We feel that the boys gained a great deal of confidence and the victory definitely lifted their morale," declared Newton.

Leetonia was unbeaten going into the game, having dumped two previous opponents.

After a scoreless first period, Salem got a drive going in the second session and Drakulich put

Navy, SMU Battle Scheduled Tonight

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Roger Staubach and his Navy teammates fire the opening blast in a double-barrelled college football program at Dallas tonight, going against the Southern Methodist Mustangs in the Cotton Bowl.

Saturday afternoon Oklahoma and Texas ranked 1-2 in the nation, clash on the same field, probably the first time in history that three of the top four college teams in the nation have performed on the same field in the same town on the same weekend.

Navy is unbeaten and ranked fourth in the nation largely because of lanky, talented Staubach, who leads the country's major colleges in individual total offense and passing.

But he could have his work cut out for him, against the quick, determined SMU outfit that upset Air Force and Terry Isaacson, another talented service school quarterback, 10-0 last weekend. What the Mustangs lack in weight they make up in speed on an improving defense that surprised the Falcons.

Staubach has been unstoppable so far this season.

The 6-foot-2 junior has completed 43 of 55 passes this season for 614 yards and three touchdowns. He's run for another 175 and two touchdowns personally accounting for about two-thirds of the Navy offense that ranks first in the country with 1,275 yards.

Three other major games are on tap tonight. They are Louisiana State at Miami, each with 2-1 records; UCLA, 1-2 at Syracuse, and Virginia Tech, 2-1, at George Washington, 0-3.

The Sooners are slight favorites. Some of the other key Saturday games are Florida at No. 3 Alabama, Purdue at No. 5 Wisconsin, No. 7 Southern Cal at Notre Dame, Illinois at No. 8 Ohio State and Army at No. 9 Penn State.

No. 6 Pittsburgh and No. 10 Mississippi are idle.

Mets Pick Hass, Fischer At NL Draw To Bolster Team

CINCINNATI (AP)—"We didn't expect much," said President George Weiss of the New York Mets—and that's about what he found in the National League plan to "Prop Up The Poor."

But General Manager Paul Richards of the Houston Colts apparently felt that Weiss had beaten him to what little there was in the grab bag.

Those were the snap reactions of the two expansions teams today to the draft plan.

The Mets took only two players from the list of 33 submitted by the other eight teams. The Colts just one. They were allowed a total of eight if they wanted, plus the right to negotiate individually

Brown, 155; Ernie Mercer, 154; Mary Lepping, 154 and Cecile Sheen, 150.

MRS. GORDON SCOTT, Mrs. William McKay, Mrs. M. C. Jones, Mrs. Joseph Greenwood and Mrs. Jack Sekely of the 9 Pin Bowlers spotted the Woodchoppers 459 pins but came out on top with a 3-1 victory in the Salem Golf Club Women's League.

Mrs. Greenwood posted the high series 457 and single game 191. Mrs. Sekely had a 428 series and Mrs. M. Court 430. The 9 Pin Bowlers and Pin Dodgers are tied for first place in the loop standings with 12-4 records.

for others on the list. No club was bound to lose more than one player, however.

Weiss, with first pick, chose Bill Haas, a 20-year-old bonus first baseman of the Los Angeles Dodgers. Richards selected Claude Raymond, 26-year-old relief pitcher from Milwaukee, and then Weiss named Jack Fisher, 24-year-old pitcher from the San Francisco Giants.

The price tag was $30,000 each. National League President Warren Giles declined to disclose the entire list, but it was generally understood to be loaded with second line veterans and untried youngsters.

Richards said he wished he had won first pick on the coin toss. That could only mean he would have liked to have drafted Haas.

Haas' minor league figures are impressive. He hit .368, tops in the minors, with 33 homers and 144 RBI in 1962 with Reno of the California League. Last season he hit .302 for Albuquerque in the Texas League and .326 for Santa Barbara in the California League.

Haas was counted against the Dodger roster last season, but he was not made eligible for the World Series.

Raymond bounced around the minors for several seasons before he stuck with the Braves in 1962. Used entirely in relief, he appeared in 45 games with a 4-8 record and a 5.43 earned run average last season.

Fisher, who has had arm and weight troubles, was with Baltimore from 1959 through 1962. His best record was 12-11 in 1960.

Traded to the Giants before last season, he was 6-10 in 11 starts and a 4.58 ERA. He completed two games, one against the Mets,

Yanks' Mantle To Have Knee Surgery Soon

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees have decided to ruin Mickey Mantle's winter rather than ruin their summer.
With the Los Angeles Dodgers having ruined 1963, the Yankees are taking no chances with '64. Thursday they announced that the reluctant Mantle would return to New York within two weeks for an operation on his left knee.
Mantle, 32, who has undergone operations during his 13-year major league career, has shied away from the latest bout with the scalpel.
"It sure would ruin my winter," said Mantle.
Just before the World Series opened, Yankee team physician Dr. Sidney Gaynor said "the need for an operation" for removal of a loose cartilage "is fairly definite. I think the leg bothered Mantle enough this year, so he shouldn't take any chances."
"He might not be able to play a full year on it, the way it is now."

Stand Up And Sing

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—When Buddy Greco was 4 years old, his father drew a keyboard on the kitchen table.
 "Now learn to play the piano," he commanded.

The small boy faithfully practiced fingering exercises on his make-believe piano, then went on to become a skilled performer on a real piano in a settlement house near his home in South Philadelphia.

At 12 Buddy had to quit school. His mother and father were ill, his older brother was in the service. Buddy got a $60 a week job as accompanist for a strip-tease dancer.

"It was very exciting work at that age," he recalled, "but the job only lasted a week."

Greco drifted from job to job. He toured the world for two years as singer-pianist-arranger for Benny Goodman's band. He wrote more than two score songs of his own.

Then he organized his own cocktail lounge trio, singing sentimental songs while accompanying himself on the piano. Over a 17-year period Buddy figures he sang in some 500 cocktail lounges. "I knew I had talent, but I wasn't getting anywhere," he recalled. "I became cocky and bitter, and I hated the world." In 1958, his frustrated hunger for recognition led to an emotional collapse. Greco lost his voice for six months.

 One night he was playing in a club in Chicago and Dani Crayne, a film actress, came in with her father.
 "I took one look at her and knew that was it," he said. "She is a rare human being. She gave me back my self-confidence. She calmed me down. She made a new world for me."
 Soon after they were married, Dani also gave him seven words of wisely advice which helped change Buddy's whole career.
 Dani advised him, "sing like yourself."
 Until then, Buddy had been doing his singing seated at the piano.

Dani suggested, "stand up and sing." He's been standing up and singing like himself ever since, and in three years he has become one of the top performers on the nation's supper club circuit.
 Before Dani came into his life Buddy was lucky to earn $15,000 a year. Last year he made better than $250,000, and this year he is sure to top that.
